| 26 - What were the instructor's greatest strengths? | |
|---|---|
| Return Rate | 11/31 (35.48%) |

- Mr. Moy is a great instructor especially for a grad student. He encourages us to read/watch the news and be involved in what is going on in the government. He teaches well, and has great patience with those who need things repeated. He keeps an unbiased opinion when engaging in debate with the class. He is great addition to ASU staff.

- Everything

- He is very passionate about what he teaches us. I can really tell he knows what he is talking about, and he has made me want to look more into politics and has shown the perfect example that everyone should be involved and aware of what is happening in the world

- he has enough knowledge

- He's very knowledgeable, and if there is even one student who does not understand something, he breaks down the information so it is more easily understandable. Also, he always has an example on hand. Most interesting government class I've ever taken.
The student instructor was also great at explaining how everything is connected together on a whole scale and then breaks it down to a small scale.

- Helped students understand everything very good, great review sessions.

- The instructor was very knowledgeable in this field which helped a lot and he made the learning fun. Also the fact that he understands what being a student is like because he still is one is helpful because he doesn't overwork us but he still pushes our thinking.

- N/A

- He would explain something in a very unique way making it hard to forget.

- The instructor's greatest strengths were evoking the interest of the class and engaging the entire class.

- very knowledgable of the subject matter.
